Lofty Words Begin Career For Council

Councilman Sam Loftin installed the officers and board of directors of the Ocean Beach Town Council Friday night at the organization's first meeting since the incorporation last month.

Approximately 60 persons heard Ned Titlow, president, urge "the strength of any organization is no stronger than the sum total of its members. We are brand new, with no sterotype problems.

"We can develop in any direction but we need a broad base of support."

Titlow made repeated requests for membership, adding that persons who join before the organization's May meeting will be listed as charter members.

Frank Gibson, county supervisor, was introduced, and Fred P. Erby was given a plaque for services rendered the organization as voluntary executive director before its incorporation.

Staff member Al Breiding, council executive director, also was introduced.

Inspiration

Guest speaker Loftin repeated, "I'm still learning," adding that the council was an inspiration to him. He told the audience that his office was operated on an open door policy.

Loftin saluted the work of Peninsulans, Inc., for their work in drafting a community plan and called for active participtaion by Ocean Beach in the city's 200th anniversary, while relating his work in acquiring land in Old Town for a state park.

He also congratulated the community for its work on Ocean Beach Park.

Newly installed officers are: Ned Titlow, president; Jean Rose, vice president; Marion Pena, secretary; Don Heller, second vice president, and LaMar Hunt, treasurer.

The Town Council general membership will meet on the third Thursday of every month at the Ocean Beach Recreation Center.

Communication

Titlow stated that the 21-member board of directors was composed of members of every organization in the area to promote better communication between local groups.

He said that the next board meeting will be held Feb. 29 at the Silvergate Savings and Loan Community Room to hear comments concerning the Peninsula community plan.

The town council's office is located at 1835 Bacon St. and is open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday. Its phone number is 222-3401.

Recognition Given Volunteer Worker

By CHARLES C. LEIGH
President, Tuberculosis and Health Assn. of San Diego County

Some women like bridge parties while others join the PTA. Some are avid Scout workers and some even play the horses.

But Mrs. Elizabeth Morin of 3112 Macauley St., Point Loma, isn't interested in bridge, the PTA, the Scouts, or horses.

The greatest thrill in her life—and she enjoys it every working day as well as some Saturday evenings—is to devote her time to people whose lives are shadowed.

Although she has never sought special recognition, the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County has just awarded her honorary life membership. Last year and in 1966 she was a Lane Bryant Award Citationist, which means she is one of the outstanding volunteer workers in the United States. And last December she was one of the individuals described in an article, "The Gift of Love," in The Ladies Home Journal.

The Journal quoted her as saying, "I will not be called a senior citizen . . . many old people ought to get out and do something active." For Mrs. Morin, something active "means a schedule of volunteer work that would stagger a woman 50 years younger." She is 80.

Mrs. Morin was a primary and kindergarten teacher in Knoxville, Tenn., for nine years before coming to San Diego in 1916 as a student of Katherine Tingley, leader of the National Theosophical Society on Point Loma. An obviously apt pupil, Mrs. Morin became a teacher and proof reader. The property was sold and the Society moved to Covina in 1940, but Mrs. Morin stayed on to manage the Point Loma property as a housing project until it was purchased in 1952 by Balboa University—now California Western University.

Meantime, in 1936, she married Dr. Hercule Morin, who practiced dentistry in Point Loma and was the Society's dentist. Doctor Morin died in 1958 and today Mrs. Morin manages to live on Social Security payments and a widow's pension from the VA.

It was in 1960 that a friend of hers, Margaret Higgins, interested her in volunteer work. Mrs. Higgins recruited Mrs. Morin for the force of "shoppers" at Vauclain Home, at that time an annex of the County Hospital for tuberculosis patients.

Indispensible

A shopper is an indispensible individual because long-term, bed-bound patients have no way of purchasing some of the little things that help make life bearable when one is confined to a bed or a ward. A shopper makes the rounds, builds lists of things wanted by the patients, accepts their money, goes out and makes the purchases, later to distribute them.

This service is fostered and supported by the Patient Services Committee of the local Christmas Seal agency, and, for this reason, it was easy to interest Mrs. Morin in becoming a member of the committee itself.

Shortly afterward, it was reported at a committee meeting that funds for employment of a librarian at Vauclain were exhausted. Shut-down of the library was imminent, but Mrs. Morin volunteered to keep it in operation. She now devotes a portion of two days every week to keeping a bookmobile in operation, keeping track of the books . . . signing them in and out . . . and keeping the library—now located in the tuberculosis unit of University Hospital — in order.

A relatively short time later she learned, at another meeting of the Patient Services Committee, that the administration of Patton State Hospital was very pleased with trips to the San Diego Zoo arranged by the committee for former tuberculosis patients.

But, said Patton officials: "The trips are fine for ambulatory patients, but what about those who can't leave the hospital. What can we do?"

Back in the first decade of the century, Mrs. Morin had been a member of the National Storytellers League in Knoxville. "What about my story telling?" she asked.

Patton was interested—but more interested in the teaching of journalism than in story telling. A compromise was reached: Mrs. Morin agreed to teach creative writing.

Every Wednesday, Mrs. Morin boards a bus—chartered by the San Diego County Mental Health Assn.—at 8:30 a.m. She arrives at the hospital at 12:20 p.m., and spends four hours with her classes—story telling in one and teaching writing in two. She arrives home at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Morin started with tuberculosis patients, but hospital authorities were so pleased with the therapeutic effects of her work that they prevailed upon her to work with non-tuberculosis patients.

"One woman," the Journal reported, "had been an uncommunicative inmate for 10 years. She attended class only as a 'visitor,' writing nothing except an eloquent note thanking Mrs. Morin for a picnic she had attended. Mrs. Morin encouraged her to write something longer. She did beautifully and soon found a hidden talent for writing. In the process, her mental attitude improved dramatically, and she was later released."

This, of course, is only one of several such success stories.

By now this is how Mrs. Morin's schedule appears:

Wednesdays—Patton State Hospital.

Fridays—Work at University Hospital TB unit library.

Saturdays (occasionally) — Assist the nurses at dinner time in the pediatric ward of University Hospital.

When the "Gift of Love" article was published, Harold Keen, a KFMB-TV (Channel 8) newsman interviewed her. He learned her car was badly in need of repair and appealed for help.

John Hoffman, a Chula Vista service station and garage operator, was fascinated by the broadcast and offered to fix Mrs. Morin's car. He also threw in two badly needed tires.

Mrs. Morin discovered Hoffman was interested in Starlight Center, a haven for mentally retarded children in Chula Vista.

"If you're going to help me," Mrs. Morin said, "I'll be happy to tell stories to the children."

And she's doing just that, every Thursday, and we wonder where her next act of kindness will lead.

VOLUNTEER WORKER—Mrs. Elizabeth Morin of 3112 Macauley St. Point Loma, one of the outstanding volunteer workers in the United States, was recently awarded an honorary life membership in the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County. Mrs. Morin is pictured here at work as librarian of the tuberculosis unit of University Hospital. Library is a project of the Patient Services Committee of the local Christmas Seal Agency.

Stamp Club Enjoys Tucker's Enthusiasm

"It is without a doubt the finest hobby from an educational standpoint," said 89-year-old F. J. Tucker, recently in describing his feelings on the subject of Philately.

Tucker has been teaching youngsters about stamp collecting at the Ocean Beach Recreation Center since 1951.

He explained that the children learn geography, economics, government, history and other subjects as a result of an interest in stamps.

Every Tuesday, Tucker is transported to the center by staff members for his 3 to 5 p.m. classes.

There are currently about 10 children in the class, but many have benefited from his efforts over the years.

"I bring a couple of hundred stamps every week to give away," he said.

Four Time President

The stamps are given by the San Diego Stamp Club of which Tucker is a four-time past president.

He explained that he tries to tell the children interesting stories about stamps at each class.

One story he tells deals with the world's most valuable stamp, a one-cent British Guiana issue, circa 1861. It is the only known stamp of its kind and is valued at $100,000. Once, when it was exhibited, it arrived in an armored car.

Another story concerns a man who purchased an assortment of stamps at a low cost recently only to discover that one of them was worth $6,000.

Tucker, who immigrated from England to the U. S. in 1913, said that he purchased some stamps for his children years ago, and became interested as a result.

He said that many of the children collect stamps by topics as well as by countries.

Fine art, horses, ships and historical figures are among the many categories of interest to the young collectors.

"When they get home they can mention the country or topic to their parents and they learn even more," he said.

Tucker, who resides with his wife Catherine on Narragansett Ave., recalls his early days as a grocer in Calexico.

Caveat Emptor

"You had to know everything about a product, like the different types of rice and sugar and right where to find them," he said.

"Today, if you'd ask a grocer for Barbados sugar he'd probably think you were crazy," he added.

Tucker also has 40 years of Scout work to his credit and is an honorary life member og the Ocean Beach School PTA.

"I plan to continue teaching children about stamps as long as I'm able," he stated.

Joint Meet Conducted By Service Clubs

A joint meeting of the Circle K Club of Cal Western University and its sponsors, the Kiwanis Club of Point Loma, took place Thursday evening on the University campus.

Circle K is a college extension of Kiwanis International, paralleling Kiwanis objectives and dedicated to serving both school and community.

Circle K was founded in 1947 at Carthage College in Illinois and became Circle K International in 1956. The Cal Western Chapter was chartered in 1957.

This occasion marked the first joint meeting of the local groups. Circle K members conducted a tour of the Cal Western campus for the Kiwanians which was followed by dinner in the faculty lounge.

Dr. R. Carroll Cannon, university provost, welcomed the Point Loma Kiwanis on behalf of the university and expressed his appreciation for the outstanding example being set for Circle K members on the Cal Western campus.

Dave Donnan, Lt. Governor of Circle K International's Division One, described his organization as "living an attitude dedicated to developing leadership for tomorrow, and to service and good will for the betterment of mankind." Circle K Club president John Hicks outlined the goals that his club had set, and some of the future activities planned.

The Cal Western Circle K Club's current project is the promotion of a basketball game to be presented on Saturday, Feb. 24, in the Cal Western gym. The contest will pit the San Diego Chargers against the Cal Western faculty.

Chargers expected to suit up for the game are Charlie McNeil, Bob Petrich, George Gross, Walt Sweeney, Speedy Duncan, Paul Lowe and Ernie Wright. Honorary coaches will be Al Coupee and Lyle Bond.

Game officials assigned are City Councilman Jack Walsh and Clairemont High football coach and former Chicago Bear, Art Anderson.

The San Diego "Up With People" group will provide a halftime show. All proceeds from the sale of tickets will be donated to Archie Moore's Any Boy Can project.

MAYORAL CANDIDATE IMPUNGED

Grand Jury Denies Hitch Rights—Walsh

By DAVID LEWIS
Sentinel Staff Writer

A fellow city councilman said he is "very disturbed" about the state's Grand Jury system following issuance of a local Grand Jury report charging Councilman Allen Hitch with "irregular procedure" during his recent campaign for mayor.

The charge was made in a letter from the 1967 county Grand Jury which was officially disbanded Friday, Hitch was charged with "apparent violations" of the state Elections Code, and a city ordinance.

Councilman Jack Walsh said Friday he has long-questioned the Grand Jury system because of its "disregard for many of the guarantees of the Constitution."

"When an individual before these quasi-jury committees is denied such basic rights as cross-examination and the identity of his accusor, I feel we all should be concerned," said Walsh. "When, as in the Allen Hitch case, the Grand Jury's insinuation of irregularities, unsupported by any data or factual information, publicly slanders an elected official without any substantiating evidence, this system, when handled in this manner, is a danger to every citizen of our community."

Walsh said that if the Grand Jury has evidence to back its claims that it should issue an indictment.

"This system is the most outmoded in our judicial structure," said Walsh, "and has been recommended for abolishment by many experts in the legal field."

A letter to Richard B. Ault, presiding judge of the Superior Court signed by Raymond W. Curtis, jury foreman, said that evidence amassed against Hitch had been turned over to District Attorney Don Keller and City Attorney Ed Butler. Both Butler and Keller said Friday that they would take no action on the report unless new evidence was presented.

Butler said he appeared before the Grand Jury at its request two weeks ago and that evidence presented at that time did not indicate to him any violation of state or city laws.

Hitch, at a press conference Friday, said he did not know of any violations or city or state law by himself or any member of his campaign committee. Hitch said he is considering filing a libel suit against the Grand Jury or individual members because of the report.

Who's Doing It?

"The Grand Jury letter certainly contains vague and unsupported charges which could do serious harm to my reputation as a servant of the people," said Hitch. "I should have the right to be provided with dates, places, facts, and to be confronted with whoever my committee's accusers might be. It seems to me that some accuser is hiding behind the skirts of the Grand Jury and should come out front and make himself known."

The Grand Jury's charges reportedly revolve around Hitch's link with Parents Against Narcotics, a group formed by Hitch to educate parents about drugs. Hitch said Friday that he had received a $500 campaign contribution from Helline Williams, an owner of Winston Products, distributors of an artificial marijuana leaf and smoke pellets that smell like marijuana.

Nothing Wrong

Hitch said more than $68,000 was contributed to his primary and general campaigns from about 350 sources, including some for more than $500. Hitch said he saw nothing wrong with accepting the contribution.

Hitch said he is under a secrecy oath not to discuss the Grand Jury proceedings. In his statement Friday he accused the Grand Jury of "breaking the seal of privacy without filing any charges or exonerating me or the members of my committee." Hitch also said he felt it was unfair to be "persecuted publicly without a full explanation."

During his press conference Hitch told of being called to a La Mesa home to discuss "a matter of interest." There, Hitch said, he was told that his host and several others present were members of the Grand Jury.

Hitch said he was asked to take an oath of secrecy at that time. He said to his knowledge no attorney and no recorder were present. Later, Hitch said he was called before the Grand Jury twice at the county courthouse for further discussions.

Padre Contests To Be Televised

Seven San Diego Padre road games and one home contest will be televised live to area baseball fans over KCST-TV (Channel 39), it was announced jointly by Padre genera lmanager Eddie Leishman and KCST station manager Mel Wheeler.

Channel 39, San Diego's newest television station, has a basic sports format and also televises Rocket basketball and Gulls hockey along with college, high school and other sports activities in San Diego.

Channel 39 sports director Bob Chandler will do the play-by-play in all games.

The initial television game will be from Phoenix, May 16, when the Padres open a four-game series with the Giants. The entire four games will be televised from Phoenix, all starting at 8 p.m. (PST), May 16-19.

Then on June 9, direct from San Diego Stadium, the new home of the Padres, the second game of a double-header between the Padres and the Portland Beavers will be televised live over KCST.

The television schedule will wrap up, July 5, 6 and 7, when the Padres invade Denver, Colorado, for a Pacific Coast League series with the Denver Bears.

"The Padres are very happy to have Channel 39 televise our seven road games back home," said Leishman.

The Padres, who open Spring workouts at their Clearwater, Florida, training camp, March 13, will open defense of the Pacific Coast League championship, April 16, against the Indianapolis Indians at San Diego Stadium.

Season Tickets

Season ticket sales for the 1968 San Diego Padre home games are on the upswing and General Manager Eddie Leishman attributes the increase to a pair of important reasons.

The Padres, 1967 Pacific Coast League Champions, launch their title defense April 16 against the Indianapolis Indians in the new 50,000-seat San Diego Stadium.

"We can attribute our increase to two specific reasons: our moving to the new stadium and the fact that people are aware that they are establishing a priority for major league baseball," Leishman said.

Last year, in their final season at Westgate Park, the Padres topped all minor league teams in attendance, bettering 250,000 fans.

The San Diego club is playing host at an open house today at the new Mission Valley facility to acquaint fans with the seating and baseball configuration. Viewing times are from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Jay Meyers, Naval aquanaut, will speak on the various Navy underwater projects and will show a film on Sealab I and II.

Meyers is a Navy diver and submariner training in the Sealab III program.

Families also will be introduced to the Andersen "Learnapotamus." "This is a very rare species, in fact you might say the only one of its kind," said Robert McKewen, men's participation and family night chairman.

School offficials say the "animal" and its purpose will be a secret until the meeting.

Fourth grade fathers will serve as hosts for the evening. Fathers to serve are Leon Feigenbutz, Bill Dickinson and Don Spurlock.

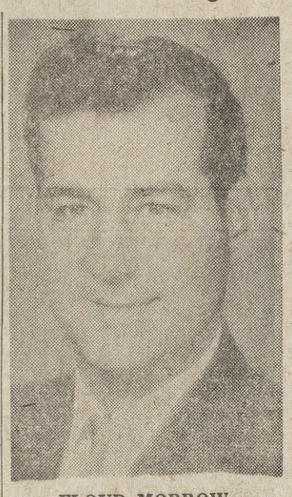
Men Declare For Primary

PETE WILSON

GERALD SCHLENKER

JACK SCHRADE



FLOYD MORROW

Candidates in three North Shores state Assembly districts and one Senatorial district began announcing their candidacies this week in preparation for the June 4 state primary.

Candidates this week took out Declaration of Intention for offices they were seeking. Official nomination papers must be filed with the county Registrar of Voters by Mar. 22. The filing period opens Feb. 26.

Only members of the state Legislature are required to go through the Declaration of Intention procedure.

Incumbent Assemblyman Pete Wilson, a Republican, and Gerald Schlenker, a Chula Vista schoolteacher, have announced for the 76th assembly district. Schlenker is a Democrat.

Wilson, 34, was elected to his first term in the assembly in 1966. He is presently the assembly whip, the first freshman legislator ever to be so honored.

A bachelor attorney, Wilson lives in Clairemont. His district includes Clairemont, Kearny Mesa, Del Cerro, El Cajon, Santee, and La Mesa.

Last year Wilson was successful with legislation to help halt glue sniffing and in legislation on use of dangerous drugs. He also had legislation passed that will set up programs to educate youth about dangerous drugs in the schools.

A former Marine Corps infantry officer, Wilson is now working on legislation in the oceanographic field.

Schlenker, who lives in La Mesa, is a history teacher at Castle Park Union High School. He has a masters degree in history from San Diego State College.

Schlenker served in the Air Force for four years as a flight traffic specialist. He is chairman of the 200th Anniversary subcommittee on youth activities and a member of its community relations committee.

Schlenker, 32, said he feels present educational programs must be re-evaluated to give average students more attention than they are now receiving. He also believes additional technical and vocational programs should be put in high school curriculums.

The assembly candidate also said he feels new legislation is needed to protect buyers. He said presently every seller is guaranteed, by law, the right to demand the buyer to live up to a sales contract.

Schlenker also said he advocates increased welfare programs and tax reforms—especially a state witholding tax.

In the 78th Assembly district, which covers Point Loma, Ocean Beach, Hillcrest, and the college area, Gary K. Noel has filed against incumbent Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes. Noel will be running under the Peace and Freedom banner. Barnes, a Republican, has not filed a Declaration in San Diego. Candidates have until Wednesday to file the declaration with the Secretary of State.

The 80th assembly district, which covers part of Pacific Beach, all of La Jolla, and the North County, now has three contenders. Assemblyman John Stull, elected to his first term in 1966, is expected to seek reelection. Roy "Pat" Archer, Stull's Democratic opponent last election, announced last week that he will make another bid for the seat. William B. Hunt of Del Mar has indicated he may be a candidate for the Peace and Freedom Party.

Veteran State Senator Jack Schrade has announced he will seek a third term from the 39th Senatorial district. Other announcements in the 39th have come from city Councilman Floyd Morrow, a Democrat, and Warren Nielsen, a Peace and Freedom Party member.

Schrade, the senior member of San Diego's legislative delegation to Sacramento, has spent eight years in the Assembly and five in the Senate.

His district covers La Jolla, Pacific Beach, Point Loma, Clairemont, Kearny Mesa, Coronado, and Hillcrest.

He is a member of the Senate Rules Committee and also serves on the Finance, Insurance, and Financial Institutions, Governmental Efficiency, and Revenue and Taxation Committees.

Schrade came to California in 1926 and has been a rancher, businessman, and civic leader. He served two terms as president of the El Cajon Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Morrow, who is in the middle of his first wour-year term on the City Council, is an attorney. He said he will campaign primarily on the need for tax reform.

Morrow, 35, claims that Schrade has done little for San Diego during his time in the state capital. A Marine veteran, Morrow worked four years an an attorney for Ryan Aeronautical before moving over to the city attorney's office as a deputy. He has been active in civic affairs.

UCSD Profs Try Now For Disassociation

The two University of California, San Diego professors who sent a telegram of congratulations to Japanese students who demonstrated against the arrival of the nuclear aircraft carrier Enterprise, said this week they did not intend to represent the University, as some people have charged.

Dr. Richard H. Popkin, chairman of the philosophy department and Dr. Roy Harvey Pearce, chairman of the literature department at UCSD, claim they had no intention of making the Japanes believe that their personal views were the views of UCSD as a whole.

The professors' comments, conveyed to the Sentinel through a qualified spokesman at UCSD, followed the circulation of a petition on campus asking for an apology from Popkin and Pearce. The petition began on the campus of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography and is now being circulated at Revelle College and Muir College.

Spokesmen say the number of signatures on the petition seem to indicate that the University is quite far from agreeing with the views of Popkin and Pearce. The petition calls the telegram offensive. A great number of signatures have been acquired at each campus where the petition has been circulating.

"While you have the legal right to make such statements, you do not have the right to imply in the slightest that these sentiments are shared by others at this campus," reads the petition.

"Your identification of yourselves with the campus makes that implication and casts a slur upon your fellow employees and students. We therefore request that you make a public apology for so doing and in the future if you have the urge to repeat this performance identify yourselves in some other manner."

Spokesmen say the two professors felt that their position as professors was as important a piece of identification as their names. For that reason they included their positions at UCSD as part of their signature on the telegram.

The petition against the men was started by Dr. George Shor, a research geophysicist at Scripps and chairman of the research oceanic division there.

Happenings

In Politics and Government

By DAVID LEWIS

Republicans unhappy over State Senator Jack Shrade's doings in Sacramenta—and that includes a lot of them—have zeroed in on County Clerk R. B. "Bud" James as the man to take on Schrade in the June 4 primary.

James, who lives in Point Loma, will be on his first outing in the partisan political field. Should his bid falter, he still has two years remaining on his term as clerk.

James is expected to take out his "Declaration of Intention" to run against Schrade in the 39th senatorial district tomorrow. Party leaders in Sacramento and San Diego put considerable pressure on Assembly Minority Whip Pete Wilson, a first term legislator from the 76th assembly district, to run, but Wilson—after seriously toying with the idea—vetoed the plan saying he had promised to stay in the Assembly for at least four years.

Wilson, who gained the unprecedented honor of being elected minority whip during his first year on the job, officially said his primary obligation was to the people in his district and that he would not run in the 39th. His record last year as an assemblyman backs him up.

Schrade Rouses Ire

Schrade roused the ire of Republicans here and across the state when he refused to join 12 other Republican senators in a move to oust Senate President pro-tem Hugh Burns from his post at the start of this year's session. Schrade was also a member of the Senate Rules Committee that decided to strip Senator Clair Burgener of his Social Welfare committee chairmanship.

One good indication of what local Republicans think about Schrade's lack of loyalty to the party was a spontaneous standing ovation for Burgener when he stood to make an introduction at last Wednesday's Lincoln Day Luncheon sponsored by the Republican Central Committee and Republican Associates.

There are also indications that the developing split between Schrade and Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes may grow wider. Barnes, who may also have primary opposition, is expected to steer clear of Schrade during this election year.

Should Schrade successfully dodge his primary opposition, he is still faced with the possibility of fending off City Councilman Floyd Morrow in the General Election next November. Morrow, who is in the middle of his first term as councilman, should give Schrade stiffer competition than the veteran legislator has met in his last several races.

Schrade also won't be helped by a strong Republican majority in his district that seems to be happy with what Gov. Reagan is doing. Schrade has a less-than-excellent record when it comes to supporting the governor's proposals.

Collision

HEAD-ON-COLLISION— Speaking of Pete Wilson, he'll have his first face-to-face meeting with his only announced opponent Thursday night at a San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce "Outstanding Young Man Banquet" at the Atlantis. Both Wilson and Democrat Gerald Schlenker, a Chula Vista school teacher, are among the 10 nominees this year.

CONVENTION— County Peace and Freedom Party members will convene at Peterson Gymnasium at San Diego State College next Saturday and Sunday for a county convention to nominate candidates for various offices. Already announced candidates who have take out their declarations are Gary K. Noel in the 78th assembly district; Warren Nielsen in the 39th senatorial district; and William B. Hunt in the 80th assembly district.

ONE-LINERS— Point Loma businessman Gene DeFalco, who had considered giving E. Richard Barnes primary opposition, has decided against it this time ("in the interest of party unity," according to DeFalco) . . . County Supervisor Henry Boney's apparent decision not to seek Lionel Van Deerlin's seat in the House of Representatives leaves the way open for City Councilman Mike Schaefer who hopes to become the Republican nominee against the three-term Democrat.

'Conscience' Built For Lawmen

A new project called Action for Better Law Enforcement, or ABLE, has been initiated in the San Diego area to collect information on police action

ABLE is providing forms to be filled out by persons who wish either to praise or to complain about the action of a law enforcement official.

The forms will be available at more than 16 churches, businesses, and agencies throughout the city which have volunteered their services for this purpose.

The forms, which have been provided by Perry Langford, chairman of the Police Practices Committee of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, will be kept on file with the Citizens' Interracial Committee. ABLE is being administered through METRO, 520 E St., a department of the San Diego Methodist Church Union. ABLE will take no legal action on the forms collected, although it will attempt to see that legal counsel is available to those who wish to formally file a claim with a public agency.

According to ABLE's Chairman, Rev. James Holland, associate pastor of La Jolla Methodist Church, "Our police officers perform a difficult and valuable job, and we firmly support and appreciate their work.

"We are interested in singling out for praise those police officers who are especially enlightened and helpful in their action in the community. However, we do hear some complaints about police malpractice. By providing a channel through which a citizen can express a complaint or commendation, we are attempting to find out the nature and extent of this problem, with the hope that even better relations will result between our law enforcement officers and the general community."

Some of the locations where reports can be made are: Good Neighbor Center, 906 N. 47th St. Welfare Rights Organization, Calvary Presbyterian Church, 3880 Franklin, Christ the King Catholic Church, 32nd and Imperial, St. Paul Methodist Church, 3094 L St. Leadership Training Center, 2965 Imperial Ave. The Plebian, 1129 Garnet Ave. San Diego State College ACLU Chapter, 284-6116, Linda Vista Neighborhood Service Center, 6860 Linda Vista Rd. National City Neighborhood Service Center, 825 A Ave., National City.

Open House Set For SD Stadium

A host of baseball stars, from both the minor and major leagues, will be on hand to greet fans this weekend when the San Diego Padres play host at an Open House at the new, 50,000 seat San Diego Stadium.

All area baseball fans are invited to tour the Mission Valley facility, Saturday and Sunday, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. each day. The Padres, defending Pacific Coast League champions, will play their 1968 schedule in the new Stadium beginning April 16, against the Indianapolis Indians.

Among sports personalities on hand will be Padre manager Bob Skinner, who led the San Diegans to an 85-63 season record last year and the PCL title in his first venture as a manager after 12 years in the major leagues.

Two of Skinner's chief weapons of last season, second baseman Bob Klaus and outfielder Rich Barry, will be working out on the new field along with 1967 Padres catcher Dick Bertell and ace relief pitcher John Morris. Others on hand will include major leaguers Deron Johnson, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds and now of the Atlanta Braves; Dave Morehead of the Boston Red Sox; and World Series immortal Don Larsen of the Chicago Cubs.

Put off until tomorrow the worrying you might do today.

Hounds Abound Around Dream Doggie Display

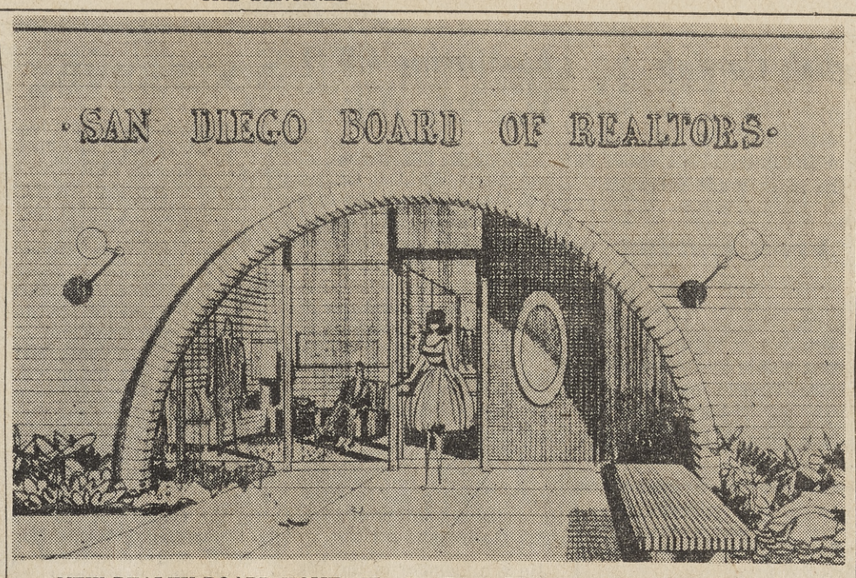
A total of 1,875 purebred dogs — the largest number ever to be entered in the Silver Bay Kennel Club of San Diego County all-breed show—will vie for honors at the 38th annual competition and obedience trials Sunday, Feb. 25, in the Community Concourse, Downtown Convention Center, San Diego.

Starting at 9 a.m. and continuing until 8 p.m., 17 nationally prominent judges will put the canine aristocrats through their paces in 10 show rings to select blue ribbon winners in more than 100 breeds.

According to show officials, there will be dogs of all sizes, shapes, colors, heights and weights, including breeds of mystery whose ancestors date back to 4,000 B.C. Seven Shih Tzus, a rare breed that was once a holy dog in Tibet used in religious ceremonies, will be shown.

Other rare members of dogdom entered are the Lhasa Apso Keeshonden, Australian cattle dog, Affenpinscher, Brussels Griffon, Shipperkes and Papillons.

The San Diego show is rated the fourth largest in the nation by the American Kennel Club, with more than 1500 of the popular and better known breeds in the competition.



NEW REALTY BOARD HOME—The San Diego Realty Board will occupy a new building in June of this year to be located at 3714 Fourth Ave. The above architectural drawing shows the front of the building which will cost in excess of $80,000 with 3,000 square feet of floor space. Besides the San Diego Board of Realtors, others that will be housed in the building are San Diego Realty Board Service Inc., the Multiple Listing Service and the San Diego Realty Board Education Fund. Lewis Ditler is president of the Realty Board which was organized in 1878 with five members.

Sponsoring Jaycees Nominate Top Men

Each year the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsors the "Outstanding Young Man Of The Year" project, in which individuals and organizations in the community are encouraged to nominate a young man of outstanding capability whose achievements are deserving of major recognition. The "Outstanding Young Man Of The Year" is a young man 35 years of age or under who has distinguished himself in his chosen profession and has also contributed to the enrichment of his community's well-being.

On the evening of Feb. 22, the "Outstanding Young Man of 1967" will be honored at the Atlantis Restaurant by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The evening's program will be emceed by Mr. Colin Wied, a member of the Junior Chamber's Board of Directors. The guest speaker will be the Outstanding Young Man of the previous year, Richard Capen, Public Affairs Director for Copley Press.

The "Outstanding Young Man Of 1967" will have been selected from a group of ten finalists by a distinguished panel of prominent San Diegans. A brief glimpse of the finalists yields an appreciation of the difficulty the panel will encounter in the selection process.

He has among his accomplishments the publication of a co-authored book and was a special correspondent to ABC in Vietnam during 1965. McKinnon is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

His thesis on the internment of the Japanese during World War II has been recommended for publication by other scholars. Mr. Schlenker holds degrees from N.Y.U. College in Buffalo, New York and San Diego State College.

Peter B. Wilson, Assemblyman, 76th District, is the first freshman legislator elected Minority Whip of the California Assembly. His main pieces of legislation have been concerned with traffic safety and more effective public education in the hazards of narcotic and dangerous drug use. Mr. Wilson is a graduate of both Yale University and the University of California School of Law in Berkeley.

Keith M. Wright, Associate minister for the First Church of the Nazarene, has been active in improving the religious education of disadvantaged youth in our community. He holds degrees from both the Northwest Nazarene College and the South Western Theological Seminary.

George F. Yackey, Jr., a supervising foreman from Pacific Telephone, has made a significant contribution to the Big Brothers of San Diego County. In 1965 he was elected "Big Brother of the Year" by this organization. He will continue to demonstrate leadership by serving as its Secretary in 1968. Mr. Yackey is a graduate of San Diego State College.

Try Safeguarding Your Heart

This the first of three articles by Dr. Arvin J. Klein, Heart Association Risk Factors chairman, to tell parents how they can safeguard their children's hearts as well as their own.)

By the time your toddlers are adults, artificial heart valves to replace damaged ones and even "new hearts for old" may be "standard operating procedure."

On the other hand, they may not. In addition, there's the recently published prediction that hospital costs may rise to $100 or more a day.

Obviously, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Heart attack is America's deadliest enemy. It snuffs out half a million lives and cripples many more every single year.

It strikes mainly in middle age. But the time to start safeguarding against heart attack is in early childhood when lifelong habits are formed. Good health and heart habits begun now can reduce later risk of heart attack.

Intensive research, spearheaded by Heart Fund dollars, is going forward to find the cause of hardening of the arteries, which sets the stage for heart attack.

While we wait for scientists to find this cause, we can use the knowledge medicine does have to increase our odds of living longer by minimizing certain risk factors.

We recognize the truth of the adage, "like father, like son." By setting good examples, we parents can encourage our children to form risk-minimizing habits that may last a lifetime and, at the same time, protect our own hearts.

Here are some basic suggestions for parents:

1. Get the latest heart-saving facts in your Heart Association's free literature. Teach your children the facts about rheumatic fever, heart attack, stroke and other heart and circulatory disease.

2. Stress the importance of normal weight. Obesity often begins in youth. It's been said that "a fat teen-ager fights it all his life."

3. Form good diet habits for your family. Serve more unsaturated fats (vegetable oils) in place of saturated (animal) fats and fewer high-cholesterol foods.

4. Encourage physical fitness by making regular, moderate exercise a family affair.

5. Teach children that smoking is bad for health. Set the example by not smoking yourself.

6. Make doctor check-ups a family routine.

Risks of heart attack increase with age. Men are more vulnerable than women. Some families seem to be more predisposed to heart disease than others. You can't control these factors. Please do control those you can.

Take the middle-aged man with three major risk factors going against him—high cholesterol level in his blood, high blood pressure and excessive cigarette smoking. His risk of having a heart attack is 10 times greater than a man the same age with none of these disadvantages.

Generally, the same risk factors applying to youngsters also apply to parents. High blood pressure — more common in adults—is an additional risk factor which should be of concern to parents. The doctor probably can control high blood pressure through drugs or other treatment.

In my next article, we'll discuss diet and obesity in greater detail. In the final installment, we'll talk about smoking, exercise and medical check-ups.

'Civilian' Money Sought For 200th

The fund-raising committee of the 200th Anniversary organization has scheduled a series of meetings with the city's top financial, industrial and business executives to enlist their immediate support of San Diego's bicentennial celebration in 1969.

Invitations, co-signed by president Charles E. Cordell, honorary chairman James S. Copley, finance chairman George A. Scott, honorary finance chairman O. W. Cotton and celebration director Hugh A. Hall, were mailed this week asking the civic leaders to pick and attend the session which fits most easily into their calendars. The meetings begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 20, with a continental breakfast on the 11th floor of the First National Bank Building, followed by a coffee gathering at 10:30 in the same place. Later, at 5 p.m. on the same day, a third meeting will be held in the Bridge Room of the Cuyamaca Club atop the U.S. National Bank Building.

A Wednesday coffee meeting will take place at 10:30 in the Fireside Room of the Charl-Mont Restaurant at Walker Scott Co., downtown, and at 5 p.m. another meeting at the Cuyamaca Club.

Hosts for the business-orientation meets will be the five sponsoring agencies of San Diego 200th Anniversary, Inc., the County of San Diego, the City of San Diego, the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau. The elected head of each sponsoring organization and the chief administrative officer will attend the session and assist the 200th Anniversary officials in outlining the economic significance of the city's forthcoming celebration.

Action Faction

Fund - raising chairman George A. Scott, whose committee organized the series of orientation meetings, stated that this was the start of the action phase of the fund - raising campaign among the city's business leaders.

"By scheduling these meetings over a two-day period, we expect to be able to reach nearly all of the business leadership in our community," Scott said.

"These combined meetings save their time as well as the volunteers, and we do a much better job of telling just them what this birthday party will mean in cold, hard dollars to the economy of San Diego."

Scott indicated that his committee's campaign to raise $475,000 in the community would be finished by April 15 of this year. "We already have some $80,000 in pledges and have no doubt that the balance will be forthcoming by the April deadline," he said.

Our fund-raising efforts will continue to be tailored to fit the specific time requirements of each group we see," Scott said. "We have but a short time left to complete our campaign. Every day between now and April 15 is important to us, and we intend to use all of them well in completing the financing of our city's celebration."

Four staff members of the Naval Training Center, San Diego, have received letters of appreciation for their meritorious service to the Navy.

TV Money Given By Mandeville

Ernest Mandeville, nationally known philanthropist and retired newspaper and magazine publisher, has made a third grant of $15,000 to KEBS-TV Channel 15, San Diego's educational television station.

John Witherspoon, general manager of KEBS-TV Channel 15, said that the personal gift was the third of its kind made by Mr. Mandeville to the eight-months-old station.

It will be used, he said, to underwrite the costs of purchasing special equipment and for on-location television production on film.

Witherspoon explained that Mandeville's gift was extremely important to the station because Channel 15 is educational and noncommercial.

It needs support from the San Diego Community in order to purchase specially needed equipment, orginate some types of programs, or acquire oustanding series from national resources.

Witherspoon said that this was the first gift of this specific nature. "This personal gift of Mr. Mandeville's will be used to purchase cameras, sound equipment, microphones, film editing gear, recorders, and associated equipment, to be used primarily in our public affairs projects."

Town Talk

BY MARY FISHEL

"FREE A MARINE . . . to Fight" was the hue and cry back in 1943, when Lt. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, Commandant of the Marine Corps, called upon The Women . . . and they answered 23,000 strong! Between February 1943 and the end of the war in 1945, virtually every state-side installation would claim at least one Woman Marine associated with their post or station. Ruth Chaney Streeter became the organizer and first director of the Woman Reserves. Hunter College in New York became the first "boot camp" until the men Marines readied facilities at Camp Lejeune!!! (hope they don't have to do it again . . .) Primarily the women were employed in clerical duties, however a great many were trained in such technical fields as aviation mechanics, communications and control tower operations.

In January 1945 about 160 Women Reserves trained here in San Diego in preparation for duty in Hawaii . . . first time they were sent overseas. The Women's Armed Forces Integration Act was passed in 1948 by Congress thus making a permanent place for women in the Armed Forces.

Women Marines became the first women in American history to be mobilized for military service with the outbreak of the Korean War. Once again as in World War II, they relieved male Marines to fight.

Today more than 2700 active duty Women Marines continue to fill billets which would otherwise require men. They are now stationed in Hawaii, England, Germany, Italy, Panama, Japan, Okinawa, Vietnam and other Far East posts.

Tuesday marked their 25th anniversary . . . later this year Women Marines will observe the 50th anniversary of the "Marinettes" of 1918 who served during World War II.

Saturday evening (7 p.m.) an Anniversary Ball, co-sponsored by members of the San Diego Chapter of the Women Marines Association and Women Marines of the Marine Corps Depot was held in the Mission Bay Room at the Bahia.

By DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN
Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—I understand that many serious illnesses can result from a twisted neck at birth. Can you explain?

A—Keeping the neck and spinal column straight and making sure that it remains straight during the formative years is of vital importance to good health. A few of the more serious problems that can occur from a twisted neck at birth include spinal meningitis, curvature of the spine, eyesight and hearing difficulties. A health program that includes regular Chiropractic checkups should be maintained right through the teenage years to correct spinal misalignments caused by accidents, or just rough contact sports. Nerve interference is the forerunner of serious illness.

FREE X-RAY

Q—I'm over 50 years old and have been using crutches for years to get around. Do you suppose Chiropractic can help me?

A—I would suggest that a spinal X-ray be taken so that a precise analysis can be made of your specific case. If a spinal misalignment has caused or is causing your problem, then Chiropractic could help. My office charges nothing for this initial X-ray and examination. Just call and arrange a convenient appointment with my secretary. There is no cost or obligation.

NERVES AFFECT HEALTH

Q—How can nerves have anything to do with your health? They can't cause sickness, can they?

A—Just think for a moment. If the nerves in your arm were severed, you would be unable to move the arm. The reason is, of course, that severed nerves can no longer transmit vital nerve energy. Eventually, the arm would wither and die. The same is true, to some extent, if the nerves were only pinched, or what we call impinged, by a spinal misalignment. A tiny vertebra bone on the spinal column may become misaligned, causing blockage of a vital nerve at the point where it emits from the vertebra opening. This pinched nerve or blockage causes pain and a loss of the arm's function, depending on the extent of the nerve interference. A corrective Chiropractic adjustment realigns the misplaced vertebra on the spinal column, relieves the pressure on the nerve, and restores the full, normal transmission of nerve energy to the arm. This allows the natural healing power of the body to restore life and full health. The same is true if you hit your elbow, or, "funny-bone". This puts pressure on the medial nerve that causes a deadening of the three little fingers of the hand. If this pressure were continued, the fingers would eventually atrophy. Just remember that every organ of your body is controlled by the nerve network that is connected to your spinal column. Any interference with this nerve trunk or branch network causes a loss of body function leading to a host of health problems.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your questions to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Road or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. Free initial X-ray, examination and analysis. Telephone 278-2902.

Women who smoke cigarettes, including both housewives and those who work outside the home, spend 17 per cent more days ill in bed than women who have never smoked.

The number of days at work lost by smokers last year in the U.S. was 77 million in excess of all workdays missed for reasons of illness. That figure is almost 1/5 of the total annual U.S. work loss from sickness.

Remember, churches are a place for sinners—not saints.

Sweet's Information Will Serve This Area

A "commonsense series" for dating and engaged couples between the ages of 16 and 20 is the newest Discussion and Learning Series to be offered by the Family Service Association of San Diego.

Called, "Getting Ready for Marriage," the sessions will start March 6 for 10-weeks, meeting ecah Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The group will be limited to 30 members with an equal number of male and female participants. Pre-registration and pre-payment of the nominal fee of $20 for the full series will be required.

Dr. Ronald Griffin, an experienced family life educator and a consultant to the Family Service agency here, will conduct the series. Dr. Griffin is an assistant professor in the School of Social Work at San Diego State College.

According to Griffin, the program has been designed specifically to help young people find answers to their own questions about themselves, their social and sexual development, their feelings and attitudes, their plans for marriage.

"Marriage is not something you play at," Griffin commented, "but something that you live."

Questions to be explored will include: How can I be sure I will choose the right person and that we will be right for each other? What is the relation between sexual attraction and love? How will military service affect the marriage? What do you need to know abou tplanning a honeymoon?

Griffin said that a Sex Knowledge Inventory will be one of the teaching tools employed to help young couples avoid a handicapping ignorance or attitude about sex.

Theme of the series will be "self examination," Griffin stressed. "This is a series which will greatly help engaged couples, and those seriously contemplating marriage, achieve a better picture of themselves in relation to each other and the marriage itself."

Elders Hear Governor And Various Experts

A distinguished group of 14 San Diegans from the fields of law, education, government, journalism and business will travel to Sacramento today for a statewide conference on intergovernmental relations.

"Partnerships for Developing California," the three-day seminar, is sponsored by University of California Extension and the Intergovernmental Conference on Urban Growth.

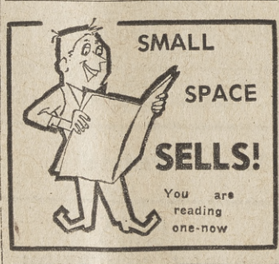
Nearly 250 community leaders are expected throughout California to hear Gov. Ronald Reagan, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch and experts from government and private industry.

Leading the San Diego delegation will be Mayor Frank Curran, Henry Boney, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, City Manager Walter Hahn, and City Atty. Ed Butler.

Dr. Martin Chamberlain, director of University Extension in San Diego, said University Extension offices throughout the state invited the delegates to the conference.

Chamberlain, along with Dr. Donald Foster and James Thompson, urban affairs specialists, will represent the San Diego University Extension office.

Dr. Robert Tschirgi, vice chancellor of academic affairs, UCSD, will lead the university delegation.



Reader's Views

Gentlemen:

As a newcomer to San Diego I am interested in learning all I can about the city and the way it operates. Some of the articles in your paper are most interesting and helpful.

One thing that has troubled me particularly is the fact that there seem to be so few Negroes employed in offices, stores and restaurants and that I have found so few of them in professional positions.

In other cities I have visited or lived in, I was accustomed to seeing many more fine Negro people employed on an equal basis with white people. My first idea was that there must be very few Negroes in this city.

As I made inquiries I have found that there are a good many Negroes living in San Diego.

I think there is strong evidence that a considerable number of them are prepared for better positions than they are now holding. It is my opinion that more of them would prepare for positions if they knew that they would be given equal opportunities in placement.

I would be interested in knowing what your policy is in regard to employing Negroes.

I would also appreciate having any suggestions you might make for individual citizens who are interested in helping them to obtain more and better employment.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Harvey G. Rogers

The first operating unit of Sweet's Technical Information Services to be known as Sweet's Information and Library Center has been established and John O. Breninger is general manager.

SILC, formed to serve the San Diego area with technical information and library material to the scientific and industrial community, is part of F. W. Dodge Company, a division of McGraw-Hill, Inc.

JOHN O. BRENINGER

Breninger stated that the Center is the San Diego technical man's source for library material or technical information to solve a concept or design problem. One telephone call brings books, research reports, periodicals or military specifications to his door. It is a service for scientists, engineers and managers at a cost less than his telephone.

"In addition to this service," Breninger added, "SILC will offer professional services to clients in developing their own internal library information and procedures."

Breninger, formerly an engineer with Jet Propulsion Laboratory, has been an active San Diego member of the National Management Association, the Society of Plastic Engineers and the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers.

Julie Rowland has been appointed manager of the Information Center and prior to joining McGraw-Hill, Miss Rowland was manager of the Narmco-Whittaker Corporation's Library and Technical Information Center. She has served as head librarian for Kelco Research Laboratories; the Hydro-Aire Division of the Crane Company; and the Pacific Division of Bendix Corporation.

Currently, Sweet's Information and Library Center is staffed by seven persons and are headquartered in Research Part at 3540 Aero Court, San Diego.

To Your Health

By SIR SPUNKY

Isolation is deadly for humans. Banishment was the worst the Greeks could conceive. Solitary is still the ultimate punishment. And too often TB patients have suffered painful seclusion. Unnecessarily.

Today, treatment for TB takes place more and more in general hospitals and homes. Patients are seldom surrounded by masked figures in surgical gowns.

There are reasons why. For one thing, much more is known about the TB germ. It is not transmitted by ordinary breathing.

Lodged in tiny droplets of moisture, the germ is spread, by the explosive force of coughing, sneezing, and laughing.

Anti-TB drugs drastically reduce coughing, bacteria, and the amount of sputum. They reduce the chances of the TB patient infecting others. In fact, there's evidence that with drug therapy, some patients become non-infectious very shortly—within a few weeks.

TB patients today are treated like human beings. With social needs. But there are still too many patients, and too many thousands of people who are infected and do not know it. Some of these people are probably spreading their infections.

Seeing that TB-infected persons are found and treated will be a major purpose of your tuberculosis and respiratory diseases association in 1968. The association slogan sums the need: "It's a Matter of Life and Breath." If you haven't remembered to send in your Christmas Seal contribution, why not do it today—and start the New Year right.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Tuberculosis Association of San Diego County—your Christmas Seal agency.

Councilman Suggests 109 Name

Councilman Allen Hitch has suggested that proposed state Route 109, which would link Ocean Beach with the Interstate 8-Interstate 5 interchange, be named Serra Freeway.

The route was one of two specifically named by Hitch in a memo to City Manager Walter Hahn, Jr. recommending that some street in the city be named in honor of Father Junipero Serra. Hitch said he felt the city's 200th anniversary was an appropriate time to take such action.

"Father Serra was certainly one of the most important, if not the most important, historic figures in the settlement and early history of San Diego and the entire state," said Hitch. He said many organizations have indicated an interest in such a proposal, but that no consensus has been reached to date.

Permission Of God Explained By Supervisor

"Why Does God Permit Wickedness?" is a question that Floyd F. Garrett, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses will be answering in an hour lecture to an expected gathering of 1,600 at the San Clemente High School gymnasium, 700 Avenida Pico at 3 p.m.

Garrett, a minister whose territory covers four states, will be giving chapter and verse references from the Bible, to show why "God cannot be blamed for men's wrongs."

"The Bible," he said, "gives a reasonable and satisfying answer to each of these thoughts."

Herman Deines, assembly manager for the 3-day convention, made it known that everyone is invited to attend the sessions which are free.

The Clairemont Congregation of Jehovah's witnesses will not have their regular scheduled meetings this week due to the convention program.

Russell J. Kobusch, David R. Fallis, Donald A. Miller, Daniel G. Thiessen and B. L. Osbeck, all of San Diego, are speakers on the program Friday evening.

The assembly began Friday at 6:45 p.m. with song, prayer and welcome address by F. F. Garrett, the convention's key speaker.

Heart Money Awarded To Local Scientists

Three local scientists are among 139 awarded American Heart Association research fellowships totaling $2 million, Dr. A. L. Edgar, San Diego Heart Association research chairman, announced today.

They are Dr. Laurence Smaje, studying salivary gland circulation at UCSD; Dr. Marietta Baginsky and Dr. Howard Grey, both working on projects at Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation. Dr. Baginsky is investigating electron transfer in heart protoplasm; Dr. Grey, the relation between structure and function of antibody.

Dr. Edgar said the awards are for one year beginning July 1.

"About 1500 medical scientists now are working in clinics and laboratories throughout the country, supported by the AHA and local affiliates," Dr. Edgar said.

Unbeaten Madison Retains Championship

Chiefs, Dons, Lomans Scramble For Playoffs

By LARRY LITTLEFIELD

No one, not even coach John Hannen, dared to compare this year's Madison High basketball team to the 1966-67 squad when this season got underway last December.

Now it's easy.

Now that the '67-68 Warhawks have become the first Western League team to win two straight basketball championships comparisons are easy and only the caliber of competition makes the association difficult.

"It's hard to say which team is better," Hannen said, "I wish they could play each other." That would make it a little difficult for 6-10½ center Rohn Dahms, the only member of both squads and the main reason Madison has made a mockery of the league's ninth season.

The Warhawks will try to become the West's second undefeated basketball squad in history in final games this week, including its second rivalry meeting with Clairemont Tuesday.

As they did last season, too, the 'Hawks won with room to spare, leaving threee other clubs, Clairemont, University and Point Loma, to scramble for the remaining two playoff berths.

Tuesday's game is as important to Clairemont as it is Madison. The Chieftains are in second place and will host Point Loma next Friday. Meanwhile, University, in an enviable position, visits Mission Bay and Kearny travels to La Jolla. All games start at 3 p.m.

Just as Madison's 84-60 romp over Point Loma was much different than a first half 70-67 overtime win, its second half meeting with Clairemont may also be a romp. Madison beat the Chieftains, 59-53, in their first meeting.

The 'Hawks played as if they were happy to be home after six straight league games on enemy courts and rolled up the largest point output of the season. A three-man zone, keeping Point Loma's big men outside, did the trick.

The Pointers, playing the rags to riches role in reverse, dropped their third straight and fell into a third place tie with University. To make things worse, the Pointers play a non-leaguer Tuesday against Compton, one of California's strongest prep teams this year.

Four 'Hawks scored in double figures in a game Hannen described as probably Madison's best of the season. Dahms led it, as usual, with 21 points, Phil Edwards and Tiny Tim Amrine kicked in with their dependable 14 and 13, but senior forward Ron Collins was the biggest surprise.

Collins, hero of Madison's first half overtime victory over Point Loma, tallied 16 points and played well defensively for his finest game of the year. Collins, Dahms and Edwards bottled up the middle to hold Pointer scoring ace Charlie Garten to only two points, dropping him from third to fifth in the individual scoring race.

Tuesday's Madison-Clairemont tussle will match the league top scorer, Dahms, against the number two man, Chieftain Frank Peterson.

The Clairemont forward ripped the nets for 29 points to pace his team's come-from-behind 7470 triumph over Kearny Friday. Peterson stole the ball twice in the final minute and turned the thefts into the margin of victory.

Meanwhile, University equaled its best season ever as far as wins are concerned, notching its 15th over league doormat La Jolla, 69-48. Four Dons, paced by Kevin Madden with 15, shot in double figures. University topped Mission Bay, 74-52, in a first half slaughter, but the Bucs are much tougher at home.

La Jolla, for a horrible ending to an even worse season, will go to Madison next Friday. It will be the league's worst offense against the league's best defense.

"This year's club is stronger than last year's defensively," Hannen said. "The main difference in the two clubs is Dahms. He's doing more for the club this year than he and (Steve) Rostoker did combined last year. I have to say he's the best player we've had at Madison."

Last year it was Rostoker, Dahms, Ed Nelson, John McGreevy and Laneer Turner. Amrine, like Nelson, is the guard who provides the spark. Edwards, a junior, compares favorably to Turner, and while junior Mike Cohen doesn't score as well, he is far superior defensively than either Nelson or McGreevy.

This year's team isn't going to make anyone forget last year's squad, but both are champions and its nice to remember both.

UPCOMING CONTESTS — Santa Cruz will stage its second District Two combined open and Single A surfing contest at Rivermouth, Mar. 23-24. One is underway this weekend at Pleasure Point.

RECENT MEETS — UCLA and San Diego State met yesterday in a Class B meet at Ocean Beach.

White Sands Surf Club will hold its second intraclub meet today at Ocean Beach and hopes to enter its first interclub contest within the next couple of weeks.

Peru held an open invitational contest yesterday. Andy Newman and Dru Harrison represented the West Coast.

SPECIAL EVENTS—Progress is slowly being made to stage an international surf meet during San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration in 1969. This meet is expected to attract surfers from all over the world.

SURFING CONDITIONS — Today's high of 4.3 will come at 11:54 a.m. with a low of 0.8 expected at 5:06 p.m. The surf has been medium to large almost every day last week and with a storm front to the north, large surf could prevail for several more days.

PERSONALITY OF THE WEEK, Bob Smith—Bob, 22, has been surfing since he was eight years old and says that until he entered college at Mesa he has managed to surf almost every day that has had rideable surf. Bob sadly admits, however, that he will soon miss the ocean for the first time in his life because of a three-year hitch in the Army.

His favorite surf spots are "New Break," Sunset Cliffs and Luscomb's Point. His first trophy for surfing was for capturing sixth place in a paddle race around the tower off Mission Beach several years ago.

Jaycees To Sponsor Toro Debut, Mar. 24

In a joint announcement made today, William D. Cox, president and general manager of San Diego's latest entry in professional athletics, the San Diego Toros, professional soccer team, and Melvin E. Curry, president of the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce, revealed plans for the debut of the San Diego Toros in Balboa Stadium at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Mar. 24.

The exhibition game will be sponsored by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce and will feature the Toros who will oppose a leading first division international soccer team from Mexico. Proceeds from the game will be directed toward the numerous community development projects sponsored by the San Diego Jaycees, according to Robert W. Arnhym steering committee chairman.

Jaycee participation will be directed by a five-man steering committee composed of Robert W. Arnhym, chairman; Melvin E. Curry, Jaycee president; Raymond Prell, vice president; Paul Zemke, treasurer; John Ihrig, state director, and John Stanley, Jaycee legal counsel. Henry Engstrom will serve as internal project chairman.

The San Diego Jaycees, experienced in activities of this nature, sponsored the first American Football League championship game staged in Balboa Stadium in 1964.

Tickets will go on sale March 4 and will be available at all Metro Ticket Agencies, the San Diego Jaycee office and the San Diego Toros main office, 645 Ash Street. Prices will range from $4.50 and $3.50 for reserved seats to $2 general admission, with children's tickets at $1.

Toro pilot, William D. Cox, and Kenneth Macker, commissioner of the Western Division of the North American Professional Soccer League, were introduced by Robert W. Arnhym at the press conference held in the Jaycee office, 1257 Seventh Avenue.
